

Co-presidents Owen Jennings, Maiah Caise, Jack Reicherts, and Danika Ford are excited to embark upon the Fall 2022 semester as SSLC leadership together. The primary goals of the semester include:

- Increase and sustain SSLC constituent involvement by advertising at Quad Day and more personal interaction with the groups.
- Host Campus Sustainability Month events. The SSLC is planning to host Green Quad Day, Tuesday Talks, and the Sustainability Research Symposium.
- Represent student voices at various campus committee meetings such as the Campus Sustainability Celebration, iSEE Steering Committee Meetings, Sustainability Council Meetings, and iCAP Working Group Meetings.
- Write SSLC bylaws. The Council has not previously had bylaws, and they are absolutely essential to moving forward in an organized and successful fashion.
- Continue engagement in the winter by co-hosting sustainability events with campus organizations.
