In the Future...

- More straightforward information online because around 13% of people that asked a question actually asked for a link to our initiatives
- More accessible information on results with our projects directly on websites, such as listing the amount more recycled this year than last year with our new trash bins so people can easily understand our impact
- Overall, people understood the presentation well with only 93/461 (around only 20%!) people who attended asking questions
